Auburn Christian Fellowship

where everyone fits in

ACF is a non-denominational campus ministry that is working among the students of Auburn University to connect them in a life changing relationship with Jesus Christ, His Word and His community. Our goal is to have students leave with a diploma in their hand and a growing devotion to Christ and His kingdom in their hearts.

Perry Rubin is the campus minister at ACF. “From the lakes of California to the hills of Tennessee, across the plains of Auburn, from sea to shining sea.” Fun fact: His wish is to have the word “whatsupdude” added to every languages dictionary.

Nicole Lynch is the assistant campus minister at ACF and was raised in Georgia. Nicole has the incredible super power to never have cold legs, hence why she is always wearing shorts. She also has a love for people, Mexico and dancing. If you ask Nicole if she is a tree, she will say, “No.”

Since 1978, ACF has been on a mission to connect university students in and around Auburn University to Jesus, His Word and His community in a life-altering relationship. We are convinced that our God is on a mission to redeem and restore-- to recreate in effect-- all of His creation that was once good, but was ruined by sin. He has called us as His people to join Him in that work by going into all the world preaching and teaching and baptizing.

At ACF we are working towards that goal by connecting students to Him and then sending them all over the world as Jesus followers-- it is the vitally unique character of our work with university students, who come to Auburn from all over the world to live and study here and then leave to inhabit every walk of life, all across the globe. What an awesome opportunity God has presented to us!

What They Say:

“I don't know where I'd be today without ACF. I've grown in every aspect of my life and look forward to seeing how God works in the rest of ACF in the coming years.
Rob Healy, Graduate Student

“I think I picked up one of y'all's flyers at CWE and put my name on this email list then you guys reached out and I was like, 'Huh, these seem like cool people,' and I was hooked.
Ian Pomeroy, Sophomore

“ACF is special because it is a community that grows with you. College is a time of learning, changing and understanding the world and yourself in new ways. ACF has supported me and encouraged me throughout that time of growth in such a vital way.
Abigail Bullinger, Intern

“People often say 'you are loved' at ACF and that is something I feel every time I step through the doors. I see Jesus in the students here and they have helped me find a home away from home.
Emily Anne Higgins, Former Staff
